

BCS II Course
9.012

Cognitive Neuroscience of Object Recognition

Study Questions:

1. Does the brain carve up the job of object recognition, and if so, how? That is, what are the functional components of the object recognition system? How functionally independent are they?
2. What is the nature of the representations that are extracted en route to object recognition?